

10 Women Over 50 Who Are Redefining the Entrepreneurial Spirit

"If you believe in your capacity to make magic happen, you are virtually indomitable."

~ Robin Lail

The Pioneering Vintner

Robin Lail, 78, Founder and Owner of Lail Vineyards.

"In business, it was important for me to be a leader in order to lay more bricks in the path for women following me. I have defined myself as a vintner, but I am first and foremost a storyteller. What I have to share is this simple ideology: If you believe in your capacity to excite, to make magic happen, and to help people look at things in new ways, you are virtually indomitable."
