MOLE HILL CABERNET SAUVIGNON VINTAGE 2021, HOWELL MOUNTAIN, NAPA VALLEY

WINEMAKER NOTES

“Vintage 2021 was just about perfection in Napa Valley, yielding gorgeous fruit with wonderful flavors and impeccable chemistries. Mole Hill 2021 offers a mesmerizing nose of blue and black fruits, leading to a velvety texture replete with sweet, fine tannins. The signature Howell Mountain flavors leap forth: blackberry compote, boysenberry jam, black raspberry and dark chocolate. Textbook taut acidity and archetypal personality create length and persistence, driving this wine forward to a long and vibrant finish. Clearly one of the very best Mole Hill bottlings ever, it reflects the enthralling and electrifying 2021 vintage all the way through.”

It is an ultra-luxury wine bordering on decadent with its showcase of Howell Mountain seductive aromatics, velvety palate of fascinating complexity and a lingering finish which remains when you set down your glass. Production is small and demand is big. Produced only from the best growing seasons, this serious wine also has a sense of humor. MOLE HILL STORY

Mole Hill was named in homage to a wine created by Robin’s father, famous vintner John Daniel, Jr.

The story goes that when Daniel’s great friend, Louis Martini, Sr., made a wine in the 1940s, the irony of him labeling it Mountain Red was not lost on Daniel because Martini’s wine was from a rolling hillside vineyard versus the precipitous mountain vineyards of Europe. A brilliant man with a celebrated sense of humor and a particular love of puns, Daniel responded with tInglenook Mole Hill Red, whose whimsical label featured a very cute mole with a magnifying glass checking a small pile of dirt. The overtly flowery back label concluded with “...and this is a wine you will truly GO FER!”

In 1996, the Lail family acquired a special vineyard site high atop Howell Mountain, and named it Mole Hill. The vineyard’s west-facing gentle slope has shallow soils with rocks that rise to the surface like cream in coffee, creating a spartan home for the vines and generating a concentration of flavors in the grapes. These thin, rocky and dry soil conditions create Cabernet Sauvignon with firm structure, incredible varietal intensity, and excellent aging properties.

We now make a Mole Hill out of a mountain!
